

PMI Chapters leverage EPM Live to manage all project initiatives

PMI Chapters leverage EPM Live to manage all project and work initiatives to better coordinate volunteer workload, track hours for PDU distribution and align resource expertise

The Project Management Institute (PMI) was founded in 1969 by working project managers. Since that time, PMI has been advancing the practice of project management throughout the world. With 250 chapters in over 70 countries, PMI continues to grow. PMI helps organizations embrace and understand the values of project management. With tightening budgets and contracting revenues, organizations need to do more with less and manage all their work more effectively. Now, more than ever project management is crucial for organizational success.
